WARNING CAME FROM PARIS

Rumors of Plot to Blow Up
American Warships.

GOVERNMENT WAS INFORMED

Officials at Washington Were Apprised of the Alleged Plan to Destroy Part of Evans' Fleet—Only a Few People Take the Story Seriously.

Paris, Jan. 21.—The reports cabled from Rio Janeiro that the Brazilian authorities were warned from Paris of a possible attempt to blow up the American battleship fleet while in the harbor there are true.

Some time ago certain suspicions indicating the existence of a plot to destroy the whole or a portion of the fleet, either at Rio Janeiro or in the Straits of Magellan, were aroused here and naturally were communicated to Rio and Washington. A chartered steamer was reported to have conveyed explosives for the use of the conspirators to Rio Janeiro, arriving there about the middle of December, and John Fedher, whose name is mentioned in the Rio dispatches, was one of the men whose name was revealed here as being implicated in the conspiracy. The alleged plot is supposed to have some rather startling ramifications, but the evidence along this line is far from conclusive and rests chiefly upon the statement of an individual whose record was subsequently proved to be anything but creditable.
Consequently the whole affair is regarded with much skepticism and indeed the presumption has been raised that it may have been a deliberately concocted scare. In any event, it is now believed here that if the plot actually did exist the timely warning and precautions taken have complet-ly frustrated the plans of the conspirators at Rio Janeiro and compelled them to transfer their operations further south, if not to abandon them entirely. The latter hypothesis is considered here to be the most probable.

Only a few people here treated the story seriously, others regarded it as fantastic, while many dismissed the whole affair as a myth. The reports received from Rio Janeiro have been characterized as another weird chapter of the fantastic recital. It is believed here that the action of the Rio Janeiro police grew out of the information forwarded to Rio from Washington and this city.

KNEW OF ALLEGED PLOT.

Officials at Washington Had Been Informed of It.

Washington, Jan. 21.—That the American government was cognizant of the existence of the belief of ulterior designs against Admiral Evans' battleships in the harbor of Rio Janeiro was admitted in administration circles. The news first reached here by way of Paris, where somebody communicated it to the American embassy. There the officials were quick to send the news along to the state department at Washington, which in turn sent it forward to the American embassy at Rio and also forwarded it to the navy department. The intimations contained were vague and indefinite as to details, yet in view of the great importance of the matter and the possibilities which might develop were the officials on the scene not informed, no time was lost in transmitting it to Rio Janeiro. The data forwarded to Washington, it is understood, contained the names of some of those persons who, it was alleged,
were engaged in the anarchistic plots, but their names were not disclosed at the department.

While admitting that some damage might be done under the most favorable circumstances by persons having evil designs against a battleship, many of the officers who discussed the matter pointed out how difficult this would be in the absence of the most approved apparatus in mine laying operated by skilled persons.

MAGNIFICENT BANQUET.

Given to American Officers by Brazilian Foreign Minister.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 21.—The Brazilian minister of foreign affairs, Baron Rio Branco, gave a magnificent banquet to the officers of the American fleet.
Fully 1,000 persons attended the banquet, which was served in the grand salon of the Monroe palace. The tables were occupied by high Brazilian officials and the most prominent representatives of society, in addition to 100 or more officers from the fleet and officers of the Brazilian army and navy.

Admiral Sperry, the captains of the warships and the ministers of foreign countries occupied places in the banqueting hall especially assigned to them. At the close of the banquet Baron Branco made a fitting speech, to which the American ambassador, Irving B. Dudley, responded.

THE REVOLUTION IN HAYTI

Inside Light on the Financing of It May Be Revealed.

New York, Jan. 21.—Inside lights on the financing of the Haytian revolution now in progress will likely be unfolded as a result of the arrest of Joseph Giordain, who was taken into custody by United States secret service men and arraigned before Commissioner Shields charged with the counterfeiting of the paper currency of the Haytian government. The arrest was effected under the personal direction of Chief Wilkie of the secret service. It was said there was more behind the arrest than the allegation of counterfeiting. Giordain pleaded not guilty and was held under $7,500 bonds for examination on Feb.
28.

Giordain is charged with counterfeiting 10,000 $1 and $2 bills of the Haytian government. Through his counsel, Giordain asserts that he made no attempt to counterfeit the currency of the present Haytian government, but made the Haytian paper money several years ago under an authorization of the government constituted under the revolution of General Fermin.
According to the complaint, Giordain had engraved by a local bank note company $1,500,000 in bills of the proposed Haytian government. One-half of this money was sent to Hayti to pay off the troops of General Fermin.
The revolution collapsed and the revolutionary currency was burned on its arrival. Giordain, it is charged, stored the remainder of the bills in a local warehouse.

The recent Haytian revolution, it is asserted by the detectives, has brought into existence again the old proposed Haytian government, which was behind the currency that Giordain had made, and arrangements were being made to forward the bills to pay off the insurgent troops. Counsel for Giordain state that no attempt has been made to counterfeit the bills of the existing government.

SENSATIONAL WILL CASE.

Court Decides in Favor of the First of Three Widows.

Boston, Jan. 21.—An unusually sensational will case, in which three women claimed a widow's share of the estate of the late millionaire, Joseph
A. Greenough, was decided by Judge George in the probate court in favor of Mrs. Greenough No. 1, who prior to her secret marriage to Greenough in 1874 was Miss Martha Higgins. Judge George ordered a partial distribution of the estate, amounting to $300,000, to the first Mrs. Greenough and the next kin.

The first Mrs. Greenough claimed to have been divorced from Greenough in Colorado in 1876. Judge George held that as neither of the parties had a domicile in Colorado at the time the divorce was granted, the divorce was rendered null and void.

The other two claimants for a widow's share of the estate were Mrs.
Emma Peaton-Greenough, who now bears the name, and who claims a public marriage to Greenough in 1885, and Mary M. Kerkes, a Hungarian artist of Philadelphia, who says she was married to Greenough in 1886.

ESTATE OF "LITTLE EGYPT"

Investigation Shows That the Dancer Was Wealthy.

New York, Jan. 21.—Fred Hamlin
of the banking firm of Hamlin & Co.
of East Bloomfield, N. Y., has applied for letters of administration for the estate of Catherine Devine, the "Little Egypt" of Seely dinner fame, who died alone in her flat in West Thirty-seventh street two weeks ago. Mr.
Hamlin asserts that he married the dancer nearly twelve years ago.

The relatives of the dancer will fight Hamlin's claims. The value of the estate is estimated at nearly $200, 000.

At the time of "Little Egypt's" death it was not generally supposed that she had left a fortune. An investigation, however, revealed the fact that she owned real estate in New York, in Long Island, Canada and New Jersey. In addition she had several bank accounts and much valuable jewelry. She had been on the stage for more than twenty years and her income was about $1,000 a week.

"Your husband is still very fond of horses," said the woman who disapproves of betting.

"Yes," answered Mrs. Torkins.

"Well, it's nothing to his credit."

"I don't know about that. It shows he has a very forgiving disposition."—

TO BE INVESTIGATED

Rumors of Illegal Acts by New York Corporations.

GRAND JURY TAKES ACTION

Appoints a Committee to Receive Reliable Information as to Any Specific Crimes That Are Believed to Have Been Committed.

New York, Jan. 21.—An exhaustive investigation into the widespread belief that persons connected with financial institutions and public service corporations of this city have been guilty of illegal acts will be made by a committee appointed by the grand jury. The grand jury came before Justice Dowling in the supreme court and made a long presentment on the subject and announced that a committee will receive reliable information as to any specific crimes that are believed to have been committed and that the committee will make thorough inquiry into the subject.

The grand jury in its presentment declared that a widespread belief existed that many persons now or lately connected with financial institutions and public service corporations in this city have been guilty of serious crimes and that the guilty persons should be discovered and punished if the law is adequate for such purpose.
Should the law be found inadequate to properly protect the community the grand jury recommends that the legislature now in session should amend the law. If there has only been a laxity in the conduct of business and not a criminal disregard of duty, it is for the interest of the public that the fact be made clear, the presentment states.

The grand jury declares that the district attorney has informed them that he has adequate force of assistants to handle all matters brought before them and that the board of estimates and apportionment has provided ample funds for the investigation. All persons having information concerning the commission of a crime of the character indicated are requested to appear before the committee which the grand jury has appointed to make the investigation. The co-operation of the newspapers is asked for by the grand jury as a means of obtaining information.

USED KEROSENE ON FIRE

Two Minnesota Men Are Burned to Death.

Mankato, Minn., Jan. 21.—Reviving a fire with kerosene deprived two men of their lives.

Reese and William Thomas, wealthy bachelor farmers, were spending the winter together in a small house in the timber a mile east of Cambria, in this county, on a twenty-acre piece that they owned. Reese arose first in the morning, built a fire in the stove and went out and did the chores, leaving his brother in bed. On returning, he found that the fire was scarcely burning, so he poured some kerosene into the stove. The coals caused the oil to explode and the entire room was ablaze in a moment.

Reese Thomas' clothing blazed up and he ran out of doors, but fell dead
ten feet from the house.

William Thomas leaped from the burning bed and dashed out of doors, his night dress burning. He reached a spring, but not before the garment had burned off. He then made his way in a nude condition to a neighbor, a quarter of a mile away. He was very badly burned and died.

The house was consumed with its contents.

BOMB WRECKS A HOUSE.

Attempt Made to Wipe Out a Minnesota Family.

Elwabik, Minn., Jan. 21.—A bomb thrown at the house occupied by the family of Thomas Nicholas, captain of the Mohawk mine near Aurora, tore out the side of the building and threw Nicholas, his wife and their four children from their beds. The youngest child, an infant that was sleeping with the parents, was seriously injured.

Although scores of men poured out of the mine to investigate the outrage, no definite clue to the identity of the perpetrators was discovered.

News of the outrage spread throughout the range towns like wild fire and in a number of cases superintendents and mining captains made arrangements to have their dwellings guarded.
One of the leading men said that he believed that the Nicholas outrage is the beginning of a reign of terror that will precede a strike that is being planned to begin early in the spring.

Clarence Darrow Very Ill.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 21.—The condition of Clarence Darrow, who is ill in Los Angeles, has taken a turn for the worse. A consultation of physicians was ordered to determine whether an operation should be performed.

EVELYN'S STORY AGAIN RETOLD

Wife of Harry Thaw Again on the Witness Stand.

SPOILS SOME OF ITS EFFECT

District Attorney Jerome Shatters Her Narrative by Frequent and Persistent Objections—Doors of Courtroom
Not Closed to the Public.

New York, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw has told her story for the second time. The repetition lacked the vitality of the first recital, but the great crowd in the courtroom
where her husband, Harry Kendall Thaw, is on trial for the killing of Stanford White, listened intently to every word. Justice Dowling had ruled that he found no warrant in the law for closing the doors against the public, and there was a great clamor for admittance from a throng which hung about the building all day long.
District Attorney Jerome, failing in his move to exclude spectators, took occasion when it came his turn to cross-examine the witness, to bring out all of the details of the first trial which Mr. Littleton of the defense had omitted on his direct inquiry of the witness. Mr. Jerome also sought to block Mrs. Thaw's testimony in its entirety on the ground that a conversation which occurred three years before the tragedy could not have any bearing on Thaw's mental condition on the night of the homicide.
Justice Dowling overruled the objection.

Mrs. Thaw was on the stand all day long, and Mr. Jerome announced when adjournment for the day was taken that his cross-examination would occupy several hours more.

Mrs. Thaw's story was broken into bits by constantly repeated objections from the prosecution, who sought to exclude all details on the ground of immateriality. The frequent objections led Judge Dowling to request Mr. Littleton to cut his examination as short as possible. Mr.
Littleton took this course only to find that on cross-examination Mr. Jerome insisted upon reading from last year's record nearly every word the witness had uttered. He did this under the privilege of framing new questions.

Mr. Littleton objected to it, declaring that the district attorney, by reading the former testimony in a disagreeable manner, was trying to discredit the witness in the eyes of the jury when he could not discredit her in any way by a direct question. Mr.
Jerome made no attempt to disguise
a tone of complete contempt in reading the testimony.

No Delicate Choice of Words.

Contempt also characterized most of the questions he put to the witness, whom he attacked in the loudest voice he had yet used at the trial. Mr. Jerome plunged at once into the more intimate details of the testimony and made no delicate choice of words in framing his interrogations.

Mr. Littleton's objections on the ground of "offensiveness and impropriety" frequently were sustained by the court.

Mrs. Thaw matched wits against both District Attorney Jerome and his assistant, Mr. Garvan, who was ever at his chief's elbow with new suggestions. She fenced with them as skillfully as she did a year ago, and at times reflected the mood of the district attorney by answering him in a voice pitched in as loud a key as his own. The prosecutor's pitiless and aggressive questions often struck fire and once when Mr. Jerome demanded to know if the young woman had told Thaw certain things, she replied hotly:

"Yes, I told him, but I did not use the language you are using."
"Don't argue with me, madam," shouted Jerome, who then had the reply stricken from the record.

But one new feature appeared in the testimony of the witness. This was when she told about Thaw swallowing the contents of a bottle of laudanum at Monte Carlo in 1904 in an attempt to end his life. Previously to this, at the Grand hotel in New York, Thaw had talked of suicide, his wife declared, and had suggested that she also should take poison, as both their lives had been ruined. Mrs.
Thaw said she humored Thaw at the time and diverted his mind. She was out of the room when he finally took the poison in Europe.

"Why didn't you tell us about this at the first trial?" demanded Mr. Jerome.

"Because Mr. DeLmas said it might make Harry out too crazy," the witness retorted before the district attorney could stop her.

Richest Indian Dead.

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 21.—James Big-heart, ex-chief of the Osage Indians, who, it is claimed, was the richest Indian in the United States, is dead of paralysis at his home near Bigheart in the Osage Nation. Bigheart was born in Henry county, Missouri, sixty-seven years ago. With forty other Osages he volunteered in a company of Kansas cavalry and participated in several battles of the Civil war.

NEGRO MAY RECOVER.

Victim of Alabama Mob Again in the Hands of the Law.

Dothan, Ala., Jan. 21.—The negro, Grover Franklin, who was taken away from Sheriff Butler and his deputies and hanged to a tree, is again in the hands of the law and stands a chance for recovery. The mob was so closely followed by the officers and law-abiding citizens who were determined if possible to avert the lynching, that they did not have time to get their victim outside the corporate limits and hurriedly strung him up to the first tree and thinking they had riddled him with bullets, they fled. On the arrival of the officers the negro was still alive and was immediately cut down and placed in the county jail. It is thought he will recover.

Ed Horderwisch Killed.

Dayton, O., Jan. 21.—Ed Horderwisch, former well known professional bicycle rider and later automobilist and business man, was killed by a train while driving his automobile across the tracks in the heart of the city.

Iowa Hunter Killed.

Elkader, Ia., Jan. 21.—While William Reimer of Lodomello township was hunting, his gun was accidentally discharged in crossing a wire fence, blowing the top of his head off. The remains were found hanging on the fence by his brother, who had gone in search of him.

TO PLACE RUEF ON TRIAL

Prosecution in Bribery Graft Cases Makes First Move.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—The prosecution has made its first move to place Abraham Ruef on trial on one of the 117 indictments returned against the former political boss in connection with bribery graft cases. The sentiments and feeling of the prosecution against the former political boss were plainly shown by the announcement in this court that not only is Ruef to be placed on trial at once, but that the case against Patrick Calhoun, president of the United railways, against whom the former political boss and alleged go-between was to have been a star witness and who was to have been tried next, may be postponed in order that Ruef may be placed on trial first.

When the cases of Calhoun, Tiley
L. Ford, Thornwell Mullally, Eugene E. Schmitz and Ruef in the matter of the trolley franchises came up before Superior Judge Lawlor, District Attorney Langdon personally represented his office, and asked that all the cases be continued until Jan. 28 and announced:

"On that day we will proceed with the trial of Abraham Ruef."

State Senator George B. Keefe, who represented Ruef, made a vigorous protest against such action and asked for two or three weeks' time that Ruef might obtain counsel and prepare his case. Judge Lawlor declined to give Ruef more than two days to secure counsel.

THREE BODIES FOUND.

Italian Suspected of Having Committed Triple Murder.

Florence, Colo., Jan. 21.—The dead bodies of three of the four Italians whose disappearance from this city in the past three months has baffled the police, were found buried near the home of Antonio Nernino, alias Antonio Pavarri, who is under arrest charged with the murder of four persons. The corpses are those of Donatino Minichello, who was a partner of Nernino in a market gardening business; Ercola Buffetti, an employe at the garden, and Mrs. Frank Palmetto, who had been Nernino's housekeeper. Minichello's throat had been cut from ear to ear and was held to the trunk by a mere thread. Buffetti had been struck on the head with a sharp implement, probably an axe, his skull being split open. The woman also had been killed by a blow on the head. A vigorous search is now being made for the body of the fourth missing person, a brother of Minichello.
Nernino disclosed the hiding place of the bodies when taken to the scene of the crimes and threatened with immediate hanging if he did not tell all that he knew about the murder.
However, he declared that the murder
was committed by Joseph Minichello, the missing man, and not by himself.

GRAND JURY TAKES ACTION

Appoints a Committee to Receive Reliable Information as to Any Specific Crimes That Are Believed to Have Been Committed.

New York, Jan. 21.—An exhaustive investigation into the widespread belief that persons connected with financial institutions and public service corporations of this city have been guilty of illegal acts will be made by a committee appointed by the grand jury. The grand jury came before Justice Dowling in the supreme court and made a long presentation on the subject and announced that a committee will receive reliable information as to any specific crimes that are believed to have been committed and that the committee will make thorough inquiry into the subject.

The grand jury in its presentment declared that a widespread belief existed that many persons now or lately connected with financial institutions and public service corporations in this city have been guilty of serious crimes and that the guilty persons should be discovered and punished if the law is adequate for such purpose. Should the law be found inadequate to properly protect the community the grand jury recommends that the legislature now in session should amend the law. If there has only been a laxity in the conduct of business and not a criminal disregard of duty, it is for the interest of the public that the fact be made clear, the presentment states.

The grand jury declares that the district attorney has informed them that he has adequate force of assistants to handle all matters brought before them and that the board of estimates and apportionment has provided ample funds for the investigation. All persons having information concerning the commission of a crime of the character indicated are requested to appear before the committee which the grand jury has appointed to make the investigation. The co-operation of the newspapers is asked for by the grand jury as a means of obtaining information.

Two Minnesota Men Are Burned to Death.

Mankato, Minn., Jan. 21.—Reviving a fire with kerosene deprived two men of their lives.

Reese and William Thomas, wealthy bachelor farmers, were spending the winter together in a small house in the timber a mile east of Cambria, in this county, on a twenty-acre place that they owned. Reese arose first in the morning, built a fire in the stove and went out and did the chores, leaving his brother in bed. On returning, he found that the fire was scarcely burning, so he poured some kerosene into the stove. The coals caused the oil to explode and the entire room was ablaze in a moment.

Reese Thomas' clothing blazed up and he ran out of doors, but fell dead ten feet from the house.

William Thomas leaped from the burning bed and dashed out of doors, his night dress burning. He reached a spring, but not before the garment had burned off. He then made his way in a nude condition to a neighbor, a quarter of a mile away. He was very badly burned and died.

The house was consumed with its contents.

BOMB WRECKS A HOUSE.

Attempt Made to Wipe Out a Minnesota Family.

Elwabk, Minn., Jan. 21.—A bomb thrown at the house occupied by the family of Thomas Nicholas, captain of the Mohawk mine near Aurora, tore out the side of the building and threw Nicholas, his wife and their four children from their beds. The youngest child, an infant that was sleeping with the parents, was seriously injured.

Although scores of men poured out of the mine to investigate the outrage, no definite clue to the identity of the perpetrators was discovered.

News of the outrage spread throughout the range towns like wild fire and in a number of cases superintendents and mining captains made arrangements to have their dwellings guarded. One of the leading men said that he believed that the Nicholas outrage is the beginning of a reign of terror that will precede a strike that is being planned to begin early in the spring.

Clarence Darrow Very Ill.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 21.—The condition of Clarence Darrow, who is ill in Los Angeles, has taken a turn for the worse. A consultation of physicians was ordered to determine whether an operation should be performed.

EVELYN'S STORY AGAIN RETOLD

Wife of Harry Thaw Again on the Witness Stand.

SPOILS SOME OF ITS EFFECT

District Attorney Jerome Shatters Her Narrative by Frequent and Persistent Objections—Doors of Courtroom Not Closed to the Public.

New York, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw has told her story for the second time. The repetition lacked the vitality of the first recital, but the great crowd in the courtroom where her husband, Harry Kendall Thaw, is on trial for the killing of Stanford White, listened intently to every word. Justice Dowling had ruled that he found no warrant in the law for closing the doors against the public, and there was a great clamor for admittance from a throng which hung about the building all day long. District Attorney Jerome, failing in his move to exclude spectators, took occasion when it came his turn to cross-examine the witness, to bring out all of the details of the first trial which Mr. Littleton of the defense had omitted on his direct inquiry of the witness. Mr. Jerome also sought to block Mrs. Thaw's testimony in its entirety on the ground that a conversation which occurred three years before the tragedy could not have any bearing on Thaw's mental condition on the night of the homicide. Justice Dowling overruled the objection.

Mrs. Thaw was on the stand all day long, and Mr. Jerome announced when adjournment for the day was taken that his cross-examination would occupy several hours more.

Mrs. Thaw's story was broken into bits by constantly repeated objections from the prosecution, who sought to exclude all details on the ground of immateriality. The frequent objections led Judge Dowling to request Mr. Littleton to cut his examination as short as possible. Mr. Littleton took this course only to find that on cross-examination Mr. Jerome insisted upon reading from last year's record nearly every word the witness had uttered. He did this under the privilege of framing new questions.

Mr. Littleton objected to it, declaring the former testimony in a disagreeable manner, was trying to discredit the witness in the eyes of the jury when he could not discredit her in any way by a direct question. Mr. Jerome made no attempt to disguise a tone of complete contempt in reading the testimony.

No Delicate Choice of Words.

Contempt also characterized most of the questions he put to the witness, whom he attacked in the loudest voice he had yet used at the trial. Mr. Jerome plunged at once into the more intimate details of the testimony and made no delicate choice of words in framing his interrogations.

Mr. Littleton's objections on the ground of "offensiveness and impropriety" frequently were sustained by the court.

Mrs. Thaw matched wits against both District Attorney Jerome and his assistant, Mr. Garvan, who was ever at his chief's elbow with new suggestions. She fenced with them as skillfully as she did a year ago, and at times reflected the mood of the district attorney by answering him in a voice pitched in as loud a key as his own. The prosecutor's pitiless and aggressive questions often struck fire and once when Mr. Jerome demanded to know if the young woman had told Thaw certain things, she replied hotly:

"Yes, I told him, but I did not use the language you are using."

"Don't argue with me, madam," shouted Jerome, who then had the reply stricken from the record.

But one new feature appeared in the testimony of the witness. This was when she told about Thaw swallowing the contents of a bottle of laudanum at Monte Carlo in 1904 in an attempt to end his life. Previously to this, at the Grand hotel in New York, Thaw had talked of suicide, his wife declared, and had suggested that she also should take poison, as both their lives had been ruined. Mrs. Thaw said she humored Thaw at the time and diverted his mind. She was out of the room when he finally took the poison in Europe.

"Why didn't you tell us about this at the first trial?" demanded Mr. Jerome.

"Because Mr. Delmas said it might make Harry out too crazy," the witness retorted before the district attorney could stop her.

Richest Indian Dead.

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 21.—James Bigheart, ex-chief of the Osage Indians, who, it is claimed, was the richest Indian in the United States, is dead of paralysis at his home near Bigheart in the Osage Nation. Bigheart was born in Henry county, Missouri, sixty-seven years ago. With forty other Osages he volunteered in a company of Kansas cavalry and participated in several battles of the Civil war.

NEGRO MAY RECOVER.

Victim of Alabama Mob Again in the Hands of the Law.

Dothan, Ala., Jan. 21.—The negro, Grover Franklin, who was taken away from Sheriff Butler and his deputies and hanged to a tree, is again in the hands of the law and stands a chance for recovery. The mob was so closely followed by the officers and law-abiding citizens who were determined if possible to avert the lynching, that they did not have time to get their victim outside the corporate limits and hurriedly strung him up to the first tree and thinking they had ridled him with bullets, they fled. On the arrival of the officers the negro was still alive and was immediately cut down and placed in the county jail. It is thought he will recover.

Ed Horderwisch Killed.

Dayton, O., Jan. 21.—Ed Horderwisch, former well known professional bicycle rider and later automobilist and business man, was killed by a train while driving his automobile across the tracks in the heart of the city.

Iowa Hunter Killed.

Elkader, Ia., Jan. 21.—While William Reimer of Lodomello township was hunting, his gun was accidentally discharged in crossing a wire fence, blowing the top of his head off. The remains were found hanging on the fence by his brother, who had gone in search of him.

Prosecution in Bribery Graft Cases Makes First Move.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—The prosecution has made its first move to place Abraham Ruef on trial on one of the 117 indictments returned against the former political boss in connection with bribery graft cases. The sentiments and feeling of the prosecution against the former political boss were plainly shown by the announcement in this court that not only is Ruef to be placed on trial at once, but that the case against Patrick Calhoun, president of the United railways, against whom the former political boss and alleged go-between was to have been a star witness and who was to have been tried next, may be postponed in order that Ruef may be placed on trial first.

When the cases of Calhoun, Tiley L. Ford, Thornwell Mullally, Eugene E. Schmitz and Ruef in the matter of the trolley franchises came up before Superior Judge Lawlor, District Attorney Langdon personally represented his office, and asked that all the cases be continued until Jan. 28 and announced:

"On that day we will proceed with the trial of Abraham Ruef."

State Senator George B. Keale, who represented Ruef, made a vigorous protest against such action and asked for two or three weeks' time that Ruef might obtain counsel and prepare his case. Judge Lawlor declined to give Ruef more than two days to secure counsel.

THREE BODIES FOUND.

Italian Suspected of Having Committed Triple Murder.

Florence, Colo., Jan. 21.—The dead bodies of three of the four Italians whose disappearance from this city in the past three months has baffled the police, were found buried near the home of Antonio Nernino, alias Antonio Bavari, who is under arrest charged with the murder of four persons. The corpses are those of Donato Minichello, who was a partner of Nernino in a market gardening business; Ercola Buffeti, an employe at the garden, and Mrs. Frank Palmetto, who had been Nernino's housekeeper. Minichello's throat had been cut from ear to ear and was held to the trunk by a mere thread. Buffeti had been struck on the head with a sharp implement, probably an axe, his skull being split open. The woman also had been killed by a blow on the head. A vigorous search is now being made for the body of the fourth missing person, a brother of Minichello. Nernino disclosed the hiding place of the bodies when taken to the scene of the crimes and threatened with immediate hanging if he did not tell all that he knew about the murder. However, he declared that the murder was committed by Joseph Minichello, the missing man, and not by himself.

The "Angel of
The Crimea" at Eighty-eight.

THE Crimean war seems almost as far away in the past to the rising generation in this country as the war of the American Revolution, yet there are some still living who participated in it. Among them is Florence Nightingale, whose deeds of mercy and heroism will live in history along with the charge of the famous Light brigade. The fact that Miss Nightingale is still in the land of the living was recently called to attention in a conspicuous manner by the gracious act of King Edward VII. In decorating her with the Order of Merit. This order was founded in June, 1901, by King Edward VII., and its cross is given for distinguished services in war. It has given universal satisfaction that the first woman to receive this high honor should be the one who founded the science of nursing as practiced in connection with war and whose labors for the wounded and sick amid the horrors of the battlefield have placed her among the foremost of the world's heroines.

The insignia of the Order of Merit were taken to Miss Nightingale by Colonel Sir Douglas Dawson on behalf of the king. She was unable to receive the royal envoy, but dictated the following message:

"Miss Florence Nightingale desires to express to his majesty her gratitude for the honor he has done her by graciously appointing her to the Order of Merit. She feels keenly what honor it is to be associated with the distinguished men who are already members of the order."

Miss Nightingale was some year ago admitted as Lady of Grace of the noted Order of St. John of Jerusalem, an order introduced into England during the twelfth century. She will be eighty-eight years old in May next and has long been an invalid, but has nevertheless retained her interest in nursing as a profession and in the institutions and societies with which she has been connected. She was about eighty when the Boer war broke out, but the British government sought her advice in respect to the care of the sick and wounded in its army in South Africa, and she exerted herself to the almost in their beauty.

Miss Nightingale comes of a family of wealth and position and was educated in nursing by the Protestant Sisters of Mercy at Kaiserwerth, on the Rhine. She was about thirty-four years old when the great war began in the Crimea. Her work during that bloody contest in relieving the sufferings of the soldiers is an unforgettable part of the history of modern Europe. The testimonial which she received after the war, amounting to about $250,000, she devoted to establishing the Nightingale Home For the Training of Nurses. Miss Nightingale's London residence in Park lane was crowded recently by friends anxious to congratulate her on receiving King Edward's decoration. She is by no means forgotten, though it is now so long ago that she became a popular heroine. She had a sweet face as a young woman, and in old age her brow has few wrinkles, and her countenance is serene. The recent honors accorded the "angel of the Crimea" recall the way she was received on her return from her labors as a nurse in the field over fifty years ago. Queen Victoria invited her to Balmoral and presented her with a cross set with diamonds, and parliament voted her the great sum which, as already noted, she devoted to the education of nurses.

Not long before his death the late Rev. Dr. T. De Witt Talmage visited Miss Nightingale, and in writing of the interview he said:

"Miss Nightingale is a very wonderful woman in appearance. She lies prostrate upon a lounge and seldom if ever walks across the floor. Apparently she is in perfect health, and her countenance is an illumination of kindness, sympathy and tenderness such as I never saw in any other. It is impossible for a person like her to have been forty or fifty years engaged in the alleviation of suffering without having it radiate in her countenance. She said she did not want to die while there was so much suffering in the world."

THE Crimean war seems almost as far away in the past to the rising generation in this country as the war of the American Revolution, yet there are some still living who participated in it. Among them is Florence Nightingale, whose deeds of mercy and heroism will live in history along with the charge of the famous Light brigade. The fact that Miss Nightingale is still in the land of the living was recently called to attention in a conspicuous manner by the gracious act of King Edward VII.
In decorating her with the Order of Merit. This order was founded in June, 1901, by King Edward VII, and its cross is given for distinguished services in war. It has given universal satisfaction that the first woman to receive this high honor should be the one who founded the science of nursing as practiced in connection with war and whose labors for the wounded and sick amid the horrors of the battlefield have placed her among the foremost of the world's heroines.

The insignia of the Order of Merit were taken to Miss Nightingale by Colonel Sir Douglas Dawson on behalf of the king. She was unable to receive the royal envoy, but dictated the following message:

"Miss Florence Nightingale desires to express to his majesty her gratitude for the honor he has done her by graciously appointing her to the Order of Merit. She feels keenly what honor it is to be associated with the distinguished men who are already members of the order."

DISCUSSED THE WATER POWER

Representatives of Dam Company Conferred With City This Morning

GET YOUR LAMPS READY The Entire Electric Light Plant Will be Shut Down for Week in February

The mayor, several of the alderman, the city attorney and the city clerk were in consultation this forenoon with the representatives of the company which controls the waterpower on the Mississippi at this point. R. H. Chute, of Minneapolis, B. D. Musser, of Little Falls and C. G. McNair, of Cloquet, were present on behalf of the water-power people and the question was gone over thoroughly. At the close of the interview Mr. McNair stated that they would within a week or ten days put the matter in writing so that the city would have something definite to act upon. Mr. McNair stated that personally he was opposed to granting a 20 year lease because he believed the power should be used for manufacturing purposes, but should the other parties interested decide otherwise he would gladly make the lease. In any event he stated the company would agree to give the city six months notice if they were going to need the power.

It also developed during the conference that certain repairs are necessary on the east end of the dam which cannot be made without shutting down the light plant for several days. It was at first talked that the work would be done in a very short time but it was pointed out that this would hardly give those dependent upon the light plant for power sufficient time to prepare for the emergency and the time was set for Monday, Feb. 23. At that time it will be necessary for every family in town to have lamps ready for use.

It Does the Business. Mr. E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Maine, says of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, "It does the business; I have used it for piles and it cured them. Used it for chapped hands and it cured them. Applied it to an old sore and it healed it without leaving a scar behind." 25c at H. P. Dunn's drug store.

MRS. LOUIS HANSON DEAD

Died Monday Night After a Week's Illness as a Result of Recent Falls

Mrs. Louis Hanson is dead after a week's illness as a result of a couple of falls she received a short time ago. Death came peacefully Monday night after severe suffering for about a week. The time for the funeral has not yet been set as Mr. Hanson is waiting to hear from relatives. The funeral, when held, will be from the first Baptist church, of which she was a member, and will be conducted by Rev. Abramson, followed by interment in Evergreen cemetery. Mrs. Hanson, who was formerly Miss Ada Shew, was 23 years of age at the time of her death and was for nearly her entire life a resident of Crow Wing county, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Shew, having moved to Free Water, Oregon, from near Mille Lacs last March. Her mother was telegraphed to last week and is expected in this city on every train. Mr. and Mrs. Hanson were married October 26, 1904 and have one little boy about two years and a half old. Mrs. Hanson, previous to her marriage was for some time a clerk for W. J. Weddell in the Front street bakery, where she made many friends and acquaintances. She has one sister, Mrs. Perry Everett, residing in this city.

SAFETY OF TUBE TRAINS.

Many Devices to Prevent Accident in the East River Tunnel. With the East river tunnel at New York now in successful operation and the Brooklyn bridge crash modified to some extent, attention has been drawn to the devices for the protection of those using the subway trains and the safety of the trains themselves, says the New York Times.

The running of the trains through the new East river tube will be at the command of one man stationed at the Bowling Green end. Before him is an immense diagram of the tunnel illuminated by electricity, on which is shown at all times the position of every train beneath the river. This is the first apparatus of its kind ever tried, and it is said to have proved its value at once.

The tracks are indicated by green and the trains by red lights. Supplementing this arrangement is a complete block system. The man in charge can follow the various trains from the time they enter a block until they leave it.

Connected with this central station is a series of controls for the power. Should the diagram show that the motion of a train has disregarded his signals and has entered or left a block when he should not have done so the man in charge by pressing a button can bring the train to a dead stop. The power is thus cut off from the tubes and cannot be turned on again until orders from the proper official are received.

Every few hundred feet there is a telephone, which can be used for notifying the dispatcher of any accident. These telephones will connect with the main offices of the Interborough company, and officials of the company can talk directly with those at the scene of any accident.

There are numerous stations in the tunnel for the storage of fire apparatus. Three big pumping stations have been provided, so that should there be a leak in the tunnel the water can be disposed of in short order.

TWO MORE SHAFTS ARE TO BE SUNK

Rogers Brown People are Placing Boilers to Commence Work on Shaft

WILL BEGIN FIRST OF FEB. At Least One Other Shaft will be Sunk on the Cuyuna This Spring

The Cuyuna range still continues to boom. The Rogers-Brown Ore Co. has a crew of men at work placing the boilers on Sec. 30-46-28, just six miles south of its present shaft. Work on a shaft on the south location will commence the first of February.

There will also be a shaft sunk on Sec. 1-46-29 on the Gilbert Anderson farm this spring, the date set for the beginning of active operations being March first it is said. This in addition to the prospecting work to be done by the Northern Pacific interests on the Minnesota Park Region lands and that to be done by the Gorman-Garbett company, just organized in Minneapolis, means a busy year on the Cuyuna range. One of the oldest and best posted financiers in Brainerd remarked today that the development on the range this year was going to be booming. The activity will, he believes, be even greater than would have been the case last year had the steel trust people not pulled out. The best posted men at present are the most sanguine as to the future of the range.

RAILROAD NEWS

Superintendent J. A. Craver of the Fargo division of the Northern Pacific railroad was painfully injured at Dilworth Saturday afternoon, and as a result will be confined to his home for several days. He was making an inspection of the dam on Buffalo creek, from which the water supply for the Dilworth shops is taken. In some manner he slipped and dislocated an ankle.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c, per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

GENTLER SIDE OF EVANS.

Pacific Fleet Commander's Tender Devotion to a Poor Cripple.

Rear Admiral Evans' devotion to Richard Grover Price, a cripple, who died recently at the Home For Incurables in Washington, proves that the gruff sailor who commands the Pacific fleet has attributes seldom credited to him, says the Washington Post.

Price, who was twenty-three years of age, came to the Home For Incurables six years ago. He was the most helpless of cripples, every bone being distorted and twisted. Among the board of managers of the home was a relative of Admiral Evans. Through her the admiral learned of the cripple. One day Admiral Evans visited Price and was agreeably impressed by the cripple.

Admiral Evans' liking for Price increased from the first visit. On every occasion when in Washington he would visit the home and spend a few hours with Price, telling the patient of the adventures he had passed through in his life on the ocean. When away the admiral would write, keeping Price informed of his actions.

Price in turn kept a record of Admiral Evans' travels, tracing his journeyings on a map. He would dictate a letter to one of the nurses, and it would be forwarded to Admiral Evans. Such letters were answered as speedily as possible by the sailor.

These letters were the great happiness of the helpless sufferer. A short time ago his joy knew no bounds when Admiral Evans sent him a photograph of himself in uniform.

A few weeks ago the admiral visited Price for the last time. The parting was a sad one. Admiral Evans bade his humble friend be of good cheer and promised to bring back many souvenirs.

But it was ordained otherwise. A short time ago, after a few days' severe illness, the cripple died. He passed away while one of the nurses was reading to him an account of the preparations of the fleet for the Pacific.

A Cure for Misery.

This great tonic medicine and blood purifier gives quick relief in all stomach, liver and kidney complaints and the misery of lame back. Sold under guarantee at H. P. Dunn's drug store.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The Two Orphans

This popular drama was presented at the Bijou last night in a film 1,300 feet long with Miss Kate Claxton, the famous actress, in the role of Louise, the blind girl. Everyone who likes this well known drama, and all do, should see this presentation of it as it is fine. Miss Vivian Reilly is now the soloist at the Bijou and is greeted with hearty applause. The other parts of the program are up to the high standard of the two orphans and the entire entertainment is good.

A Great Reader

Everett Kemp, who recited from Sevenoaks at the First Congregational church is certainly one of the finest recitative readers in this country today. Everyone who heard him went away charmed. He had the audience under perfect control bringing tears to the eyes of almost all in the pathetic scenes and making the church ring with laughter in the humorous parts. The entertainment certainly deserved a larger audience than it received.

FARM, HOME AND GARDEN

Another thing which should be done at this time of the year is to plan the renovation of the house which will accompany the inevitable spring house cleaning. It is all right to talk over the matter of the color and style of the wall decorations, etc., with the housewife, but leave the selection to her. To the man the home is little more than a boarding house; he is there but few of his waking hours; to her it is a home for twenty-four hours in the day if an uncongenial one it is almost a prison. If it does not suit her tastes it gets on her nerves. The more closely the duties of motherhood and housewifery press upon her the worse a jarring note in her home surroundings worries her and gets upon her nerves. Do not impose unnecessary pain and nervousness upon her by urging some pattern of wall paper or scheme of decoration which she does not like. If a man does not like a certain wall paper or paint he dislikes it and that is all. With a woman it gets on her nerves and wears on them until it makes her irritable. Do not force your ideas as to this or other details of household domestic economy. It does not pay.

Put a cup of water in the dish and bake till partly done, then take the dish out, pour the sago over the apples, return and bake till well done. Serve with sugar and cream.

"I have reached a higher health level since I began using Dr. King's New Life Pills," writes Jacob Springer, of West Franklin, Maine. "They keep my stomach, liver and bowels working just right." If these pills disappoint you on trial, money will be refunded at H. P. Dunn's drug store. 25c. tts

TO CATARRH SUFFERERS

Good Advice and Liberal Offer From a Well Known Brainerd Druggist

H. P. Dunn has been advising all who suffer from any of the symptoms of catarrh, such as offensive breath, dryness of the nose, pain across the eyes, stoppage of the nose, discharges and droppings in the throat, catching spasms and general weakness and debility, to use Hyomei. He goes so far as to offer to refund the money to any user of Hyomei who is not perfectly satisfied with the results.

Quick relief follows the use of the Hyomei treatment; the stoppage of the nose is removed, the dropping ceases, the breath becomes pure and sweet, and the catarrhal germs are destroyed and their growth prevented.

Hyomei is the surest, simplest, quickest, easiest and cheapest way to cure catarrh. It does not drug and derange the stomach; it goes right to the seat of the trouble, destroying the catarrhal germs and healing and vitalizing the tissues.

Go to H. P. Dunn's today and buy a complete Hyomei outfit for $1.00 with the understanding that if it does not give satisfaction, your money will be refunded. 188-110-194

TWO MORE SHAFTS ARE TO BE SUNK

Rogers Brown People are Placing Boilers to Commence Work on Shaft

WILL BEGIN FIRST OF FEB.

At Least One Other Shaft will be Sunk on the Cuyuna This Spring

The Cuyuna range still continues to boom. The Rogers-Brown Ore Co. has a crew of men at work placing the boilers on Sec. 30-46-28, just six miles south of its present shaft. Work on a shaft on the south location will commence the first of February.

There will also be a shaft sunk on Sec. 1-46-29 on the Gilbert Anderson farm this spring, the date set for the beginning of active operations being March first it is said. This in addition to the prospecting work to be done by the Northern Pacific interests on the Minnesota Park Region lands and that to be done by the Gorman-Garrett company, just organized in Minneapolis, means a busy year on the Cuyuna range. One of the oldest and best posted financiers in Brainerd remarked today that the development on the range this year was going to be booming. The activity will, he believes, be even greater than would have been the case last year had the steel trust people not pulled out. The best posted men at present are the most sanguine as to the future of the range.

RAILROAD NEWS

Superintendent J. A. Craver of the Fargo division of the Northern Pacific railroad was painfully injured at Dilworth Saturday afternoon, and as a result will be confined to his home for several days. He was making an inspection of the dam on Buffalo creek, from which the water supply for the Dilworth shops is taken. In some manner he slipped and dislocated an ankle.

GENTLER SIDE OF EVANS.

Pacific Fleet Commander's Tender Devotion to a Poor Cripple.

Rear Admiral Evans' devotion to Richard Grover Price, a cripple, who died recently at the Home For Incurables in Washington, proves that the gruff sailor who commands the Pacific fleet has attributes seldom credited to him, says the Washington Post.

Price, who was twenty-three years of age, came to the Home For Incurables six years ago. He was the most helpless of cripples, every bone being distorted and twisted. Among the board of managers of the home was a relative of Admiral Evans. Through her the admiral learned of the cripple. One day Admiral Evans visited Price and was agreeably impressed by the cripple.

Admiral Evans' liking for Price increased from the first visit. On every occasion when in Washington he would visit the home and spend a few hours with Price, telling the patient of the adventures he had passed through in his life on the ocean. When away the admiral would write, keeping Price informed of his actions.

Price in turn kept a record of Admiral Evans' travels, tracing his journeyings on a map. He would dictate a letter to one of the nurses, and it would be forwarded to Admiral Evans. Such letters were answered as speedily as possible by the sailor.

These letters were the great happiness of the helpless sufferer. A short time ago his joy knew no bounds when Admiral Evans sent him a photograph of himself in uniform.

A few weeks ago the admiral visited Price for the last time. The parting was a sad one. Admiral Evans bade his humble friend be of good cheer and promised to bring back many souvenirs.

But it was ordained otherwise. A short time ago, after a few days' severe illness, the cripple died. He passed away while one of the nurses was reading to him an account of the preparations of the fleet for the Pacific.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The Two Orphans

This popular drama was presented at the Bijou last night in a film 1,300 feet long with Miss Kate Claxton, the famous actress, in the role of Louise, the blind girl. Everyone who likes this well known drama, and all do, should see this presentation of it as it is fine. Miss Vivian Reilly is now the soloist at the Bijou and is greeted with hearty applause. The other parts of the program are up to the high standard of the two orphans and the entire entertainment is good.

A Great Reader

Everett Kemp, who recited from Sevenoaks at the First Congregational church is certainly one of the finest recitative readers in this country today. Everyone who heard him went away charmed. He had the audience under perfect control bringing tears to the eyes of almost all in the pathetic scenes and making the church ring with laughter in the humorous parts. The entertainment certainly deserved a larger audience than it received.

Rank Foolishness.

"When attacked by a cough or a cold, or when your throat is sore, it is rank foolishness to take any other medicine than Dr. King's New Discovery," says C. O. Eldridge, of Empire, Ga. "I have used New Discovery seven years and I know it is the best remedy for earth for coughs and colds, croup, and all throat and lung troubles. My children are subject to croup, but New Discovery quickly cures every attack." Known the world over as the King of throat and lung remedies. Sold under guarantee at H. P. Dunn's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. tts

FARM, HOME AND GARDEN

Another thing which should be done at this time of the year is to plan the renovation of the house which will accompany the inevitable spring house cleaning. It is all right to talk over the matter of the color and style of the wall decorations, etc., with the housewife, but leave the selection to her. To the man the home is little more than a boarding house; he is there but few of his waking hours; to her it is a home for twenty-four hours in the day if an uncongenial one it is almost a prison. If it does not suit her tastes it gets on her nerves. The more closely the duties of motherhood and housewifery press upon her the worse a jarring note in her home surroundings worries her and gets upon her nerves. Do not impose unnecessary pain and nervousness upon her by urging some pattern of wall paper or scheme of decoration which she does not like. If a man does not like a certain wall paper or paint he dislikes it and that is all. With a woman it gets on her nerves and wears on them until it makes her irritable. Do not force your ideas as to this or other details of household domestic economy. It does not pay.

Good Advice and Liberal Offer From a Well Known Brainerd Druggist

H. P. Dunn has been advising all who suffer from any of the symptoms of catarrh, such as offensive breath, dryness of the nose, pain across the eyes, stoppage of the nose, discharges and droppings in the throat, catching spasms and general weakness and debility, to use Hyomei. He goes so far as to offer to refund the money to any user of Hyomei who is not perfectly satisfied with the results.

Quick relief follows the use of the Hyomei treatment; the stoppage of the nose is removed, the droppings cease, the breath becomes pure and sweet, and the catarrhal germs are destroyed and their growth prevented.

Hyomei is the surest, simplest, quickest, easiest and cheapest way to cure catarrh. It does not drug and derange the stomach; it goes right to the seat of the trouble, destroying the catarrhal germs and healing and vitalizing the tissues.

Go to H. P. Dunn's today and buy a complete Hyomei outfit for $1.00 with the understanding that if it does not give satisfaction, your money will be refunded. 188-190-194

CONTEMPLATED SUICIDE.

Juror Palmer Did Not Want to Convict Walsh.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—A special dispatch to the Journal from Harvard, Ill., says that Elbert Palmer, the juror who stood out so long for the acquittal of John R. Walsh, the banker who was convicted on Saturday, contemplated suicide rather than return a verdict of guilty.

This fact was stated in an affidavit by C. J. Hendricks, a local lawyer, who recounts a conversation held by him with Palmer.

"I do not believe that Walsh was technically guilty," is the statement made by Palmer to the lawyer, according to the affidavit of the latter.

"I was tortured by sleeplessness and had I known that I could have changed my mind when questioned by Judge Anderson, I should have done so. I

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgement are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures and purifies the blood thereby curing, pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by inclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

Second Trial of Harry K. Thaw

Martin W. Littleton, Leading Lawyer For the Defense, a Graduate of the School of Hard Knocks—His Remarkable Rise to Prominence—Judge Dowling a Hustler. Luxury For Jurymen.

HARRY K. THAW.

MEN who seek jury duty do not commonly belong to the class called prominent citizens. The "prominent" will usually go several blocks out of his way to avoid sitting on a jury, and the modest fee customarily awarded for such service does not, as a rule, reconcile him to abandonment of the duties of his ordinary vocation. In the case of the second trial of Harry K. Thaw the judge presiding was anxious to secure representative men as jurymen and determined that they should have as good accommodations while on such duty as the best circumstances of them could have in their own homes. No sleeping on benches or "cold victuals" for Thaw jurors were his orders, so a suit of rooms in one of the swellest hostels of the city was engaged at an expense, it is said, of $200 per day. It is a hotel which contains mural paintings and statuary by famous artists and tapestries worth a small fortune. The chambers of the jurymen and the smoking and dining rooms fitted up for them are luxurious. The first Thaw trial made a household word of the name of the prisoner's leading counsel, Delphin M. Delmas, a lawyer noted in the west for his forensic ability long before Thaw had attracted attention by his erratic

It was twenty-one years later, when the fame of his speech in nomination of Judge Parker for the presidency had spread over the country, that Mr. Littleton was again in Texas, and he looked up his old friend the foreman.

"Well, Martin," said the latter, "you've changed some since I was your boss, ain't you?"

"I'm older," was the response.

"And you're a big New York lawyer, too, ain't you?"

"Well, I don't know about the 'big,' but I'm a New York lawyer anyhow."

It was in 1896 that Mr. Littleton, having been admitted to the Texas bar and established a record as assistant district attorney of Parker county, determined to tempt fortune in a larger field, and, taking his bride and his office shingle, he started for New York. There was no fire on the North river in celebration of his arrival, and for a time the big city seemed cruelly oblivious of his budding genius. But success came in due season, and in 1903 he was chosen president of the populous borough of Brooklyn. His administration was so successful that he could have been nominated for a second term, but he preferred to retire and devote himself to his profession.

The judge who presides in the second Thaw trial, Victor J. Dowling, is not much older than Mr. Littleton. He was born in New York in 1866 and is said to be the youngest judge on the supreme bench of New York state. He has a reputation for exceptional promptness and swiftness of rulings. It was only a short while before the doings. The second trial brings into the limelight another leader of the bar, this time a young man, Martin W. Littleton. After the campaign of 1904 a friend of Mr. Littleton introduced him to Mr. Roosevelt thus:

"Mr. President, permit me to introduce the man who elected you."

"Indeed?" said the chief executive.

"And how was that?"

"He nominated Parker," was the reply.

It was perhaps Mr. Littleton's speech at the St. Louis convention of 1904 placing the New York jurist in nomination for the presidency that gave him a national reputation, but he had previously won more than local renown as an orator. Even as long as twenty-five years ago it was recognized that he was a worthy disciple of Demosthenes or Cicero. That was when he was a boy of twelve and was astonishing the habits of the village store by the fire he could throw into his declamation of Fifth Reader masterpieces. The scene of these early efforts in oratory was Weatherford, Tex., but Mr. Littleton was born in Roane county, Tenn., and his father was an officer in the Union army in the civil war.

The elder Littleton removed to Texas when Martin was about eight years old. The latter was educated chiefly in the school of hard knocks and was at various times farm hand, baker's assistant, printer's devil and laborer with the track gangs of the Texas Pacific railroad. But he had an ambition for higher things. It was in 1883, while he was a track walker, that the foreman of the gang said to him:

"You're a pretty bright young fellow. I suppose some day you expect to be the conductor of a freight train, don't you?"

"No, sir," replied the track walker. "I expect to be a big lawyer in New York city."

The foreman laughed and remarked, "Pretty big jump, isn't it, from track walker to New York lawyer?"

"Yes, sir," modestly replied Martin, "but not further than from rail splitter to president."

Thaw case was called that another prisoner charged with murder was brought before him, and in this instance also it was alleged by the defense that the man was insane at the time the crime was committed. After forty minutes of expert testimony Judge Dowling handed the case to the jury. A few minutes later the jury returned with a verdict of "not guilty on account of insanity," and that same night the prisoner was on his way to the Mattewan Asylum For the Criminal Insane.

On the first day of the second trial the sessions of court lasted from 10:15

in the morning until 11 at night. The next day while talesmen were under examination one of them left the chair at one minute of 1 o'clock, the luncheon hour.

"Having worked rather late last night"—began District Attorney William Travers Jerome, addressing the court.

"It is not yet time for adjournment," interrupted Justice Dowling, and the clerk took the cue and called the name of another possible juror.

LETTER FROM CORTELYOU

Laid Before the Senate by Mr. Aldrich of Rhode Island.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Just before the senate adjourned for the day Senator Aldrich received a letter from Secretary Cortelyou explaining the delay in replying to the resolution calling on him for information concerning the recent Panama canal bond issue, and the letter was laid before the senate. Earlier in the day Senator Tillman indulged in caustic comment upon what he characterized as the secretary's apparent "disobedience" to a senate resolution.

In his letter to Senator Aldrich, Mr. Cortelyou said:

"I am sorry that there should have been any misunderstanding as to the time when my answer to the senate resolution regarding the treasury operations would be sent in. Had I been advised of your request to know when it might be expected, I would have replied that I required a little more time to go over the mass of figures it involves. It is my desire, of course, that all business of this kind shall be disposed of promptly, but this matter is so important that I felt it desirable that every feature of the report should be clearly stated, both for the information of the senate and in justice to the department. It is my desire and intention to submit a complete response to the resolution and I hope to have it ready in the course of the next few days, in all probability about the beginning of next week.

"The amount of work involved in the preparation of such voluminous data may not be fully appreciated by some, but it should be remembered that the force in all the bureaus here, which have to do intimately with financial matters, have been for weeks working overtime on the regular business of the department and to have this duty put upon them in addition materially increases their burdens."

The senate devoted over two hours to consideration of the bill revising the criminal laws of the United States.

IMMIGRATION QUESTION.

Subject of Long and Interesting Debate in the House.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Unrestrained opportunity to express views on the immigration question was offered members of the house by the decision, soon after convening, to take up and consider a bill appropriating $250,000 for an immigration station in Philadelphia, and so many took advantage of it that the code of laws bill, which the managers of the house had planned to take up, was side-tracked for the day.

The discussion of the immigration station bill opened up the whole subject of immigration and excited the interest of the entire house. Members from both sides of the chamber clamored for recognition, which carried with it the right to speak for an hour, if so desired.

The discussion served to develop violent opposition, led by Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Byrd, to certain classes of immigrants coming to the United States, while others made earnest pleas for them upon the ground that the prosperity of the country had been advanced because of their presence in this country.

The debate was notable in that it was indulged in largely by members serving their first terms and who found in the bill a chance to make their maiden efforts at speechmaking on the floor of the house.

The entire session was devoted to a consideration of the bill, which was passed.

Bears are liable to taxation in several of the Japanese villages. The origin of this curious custom seems to be unknown.

CONTEMPLATED SUICIDE.

Juror Palmer Did Not Want to Convict Walsh.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—A special dispatch to the Journal from Harvard, Ill., says that Elbert Palmer, the juror who stood out so long for the acquittal of John R. Walsh, the banker who was convicted on Saturday, contemplated suicide rather than return a verdict of guilty.

This fact was stated in an affidavit by C. J. Hendricks, a local lawyer, who recounts a conversation held by him with Palmer.

"I do not believe that Walsh was technically guilty," is the statement made by Palmer to the lawyer, according to the affidavit of the latter.

"I was tortured by sleeplessness and had I known that I could have changed my mind when questioned by Judge Anderson, I should have done so. I

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgement are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought can be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures and purifies the blood thereby curing, pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by inclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

would have blown out my brains rather than present my verdict in court." Palmer is at his farm five miles outside of Harvard, a physical wreck.

The affidavit made by Hendricks has been sent to the attorneys of Mr. Walsh.

PSYCHOLOGY FOR DRUNKS.

Bishop Fallows Will Try His Religious Cure For Inebriates.

A sanitarium for the treatment of drunkenness and drug habits is being planned by Bishop Samuel Fallows of the Reformed Episcopal church, says a Chicago Dispatch.

"Christian psychology" is to take the place of the gold, aromatic spirits of ammonia, seltzer water and sobering devices. Already a number of wealthy philanthropists have written the bishop regarding his proposed treatment, and all express approval of his plan.

"There is no doubt that drunkenness and drug habits can be cured by Christian psychology," said the bishop. "Drunkenness is a disease of the nerve tissues. At present I am compelled to refuse to treat inebriates, as I have no suitable place for the work."

Fleet to the Pacific: Line Ahead. Straight through the thick of the driving brine.

Slamming aside each roaring crest. Last but one in the weather line.

Bound in haste for the clamoring west. We note what the admiral has to say.

Where the flagship's signals wink and burn.

And keep an eye on the sheering spray From the ram of the next astern.

All the night long "Full speed ahead!" Stares from the dials down below.

All the night long blue sparks and red Spurt from the humming dynamo.

And the clang and clash of the swinging steel.

With the stealthy surge of the prisoned steam.

Make a giant symphony, harsh, unreal As the noise of a perilous dream.

Shadows flit and form in rank. Cross and shudder and disappear.

Curbs of smoke from a beating crank Try the soul of the engineer.

"Three revolutions—starboard's crew!" He gives the wheel the ghost of a turn.

For this creeping up—which will never do—The ram of the next astern.

Now overhead the sky blurs pale. A phantom squadron rides the sea.

Warm rain drips from the bright bridge rail.

Seven bells ring from weather and lee. All the day long through storm or sun.

Round the rim of this whirling ball Till the flagship tells that the cruise is done.

Second Trial of Harry K. Thaw

Martin W. Littleton, Leading Lawyer For the Defense, a Graduate of the School of Hard Knocks—His Remarkable Rise to Prominence—Judge Dowling a Hustler. Luxury For Jurymen.

HARRY K. THAW.

MEN who seek jury duty do not commonly belong to the class called prominent citizens. The "prom. cit." will usually go several blocks out of his way to avoid sitting on a jury, and the modest fee customarily awarded for such service does not, as a rule, reconcile him to abandonment of the duties of his ordinary vocation. In the case of the second trial of Harry K. Thaw the judge presiding was anxious to secure representative men as jurymen and determined that they should have as good accommodations while on such duty as the best circumstances could provide.

No sleeping on benches or "cold victuals" for Thaw jurors were his orders, so a suit of rooms in one of the swellest hostels of the city was engaged at an expense, it is said, of $200 per day. It is a hotel which contains mural paintings and statuary by famous artists and tapestries worth a small fortune. The chambers of the jurymen and the smoking and dining rooms fitted up for them are luxurious.

The first Thaw trial made a household word of the name of the prisoner's leading counsel, Delphin M. Delmas, a lawyer noted in the west for his forensic ability long before Thaw had attracted attention by his erratic

It was twenty-one years later, when the fame of his speech in nomination of Judge Parker for the presidency had spread over the country, that Mr. Littleton was again in Texas, and he looked up his old friend the foreman.

"Well, Martin," said the latter, "you've changed some since I was your boss, ain't you?"

"I'm older," was the response.

"And you're a big New York lawyer, too, ain't you?"

"Well, I don't know about the 'big,' but I'm a New York lawyer anyhow."

It was in 1896 that Mr. Littleton, having been admitted to the Texas bar and established a record as assistant district attorney of Parker county, determined to tempt fortune in a larger field, and, taking his bride and his office shingle, he started for New York. There was no fire on the North river in celebration of his arrival, and for a time the big city seemed cruelly oblivious of his budding genius. But success came in due season, and in 1903 he was chosen president of the populous borough of Brooklyn. His administration was so successful that he could have been nominated for a second term, but he preferred to retire and devote himself to his profession.

The judge who presides in the second Thaw trial, Victor J. Dowling, is not much older than Mr. Littleton. He was born in New York in 1866 and is said to be the youngest judge on the supreme bench of New York state. He has a reputation for exceptional promptness and swiftness of rulings. It was only a short while before the doings. The second trial brings into the limelight another leader of the bar, this time a young man, Martin W. Littleton. After the campaign of 1904 a friend of Mr. Littleton introduced him to Mr. Roosevelt thus:

"Mr. President, permit me to introduce the man who elected you."

"Indeed!" said the chief executive.

"And how was that?"

"He nominated Parker," was the reply.

It was perhaps Mr. Littleton's speech at the St. Louis convention of 1904 placing the New York jurist in nomination for the presidency that gave him a national reputation, but he had previously won more than local renown as an orator. Even as long as twenty-five years ago it was recognized that he was a worthy disciple of Demosthenes or Cicero. That was when he was a boy of twelve and was astonishing the habits of the village store by the fire he could throw into his declamation of Fifth Reader masterpieces. The scene of these early efforts in oratory was Weatherford, Tex., but Mr. Littleton was born in Roane county, Tenn., and his father was an officer in the Union army in the civil war.

The elder Littleton removed to Texas when Martin was about eight years old. The latter was educated chiefly in the school of hard knocks and was at various times farm hand, baker's assistant, printer's devil and laborer with the track gangs of the Texas Pacific railroad. But he had an ambition for higher things. It was in 1883, while he was a track walker, that the foreman of the gang said to him:

"You're a pretty bright young fellow. I suppose some day you expect to be the conductor of a freight train, don't you?"

"No, sir," replied the track walker; "I expect to be a big lawyer in New York city."

The foreman laughed and remarked, "Pretty big jump, isn't it, from track walker to New York lawyer?"

"Yes, sir," modestly replied Martin, "but not further than from rail splitter to president."

Thaw case was called that another prisoner charged with murder was brought before him, and in this instance also it was alleged by the defense that the man was insane at the time the crime was committed. After forty minutes of expert testimony Judge Dowling handed the case to the jury. A few minutes later the jury returned with a verdict of "not guilty on account of insanity," and that same night the prisoner was on his way to the Matteawan Asylum For the Criminal Insane.

On the first day of the second trial the sessions of court lasted from 10:15

in the morning until 11 at night. The next day while talesmen were under examination one of them left the chair at one minute of 1 o'clock, the lunch-hour.

"Having worked rather late last night," began District Attorney William Travers Jerome, addressing the court.

"It is not yet time for adjournment," interrupted Justice Dowling, and the clerk took the cue and called the name of another possible juror.

Laid Before the Senate by Mr. Aldrich of Rhode Island.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Just before the senate adjourned for the day Senator Aldrich received a letter from Secretary Cortelyou explaining the delay in replying to the resolution calling on him for information concerning the recent Panama canal bond issue, and the letter was laid before the senate. Earlier in the day Senator Tillman indulged in caustic comment upon what he characterized as the secretary's apparent "disobedience" to a senate resolution.

In his letter to Senator Aldrich, Mr. Cortelyou said:

"I am sorry that there should have been any misunderstanding as to the time when my answer to the senate resolution regarding the treasury operations would be sent in. Had I been advised of your request to know when it might be expected, I would have replied that I required a little more time to go over the mass of figures it involves. It is my desire, of course, that all business of this kind shall be disposed of promptly, but this matter is so important that I felt it desirable that every feature of the report should be clearly stated, both for the information of the senate and in justice to the department. It is my desire and intention to submit a complete response to the resolution and I hope to have it ready in the course of the next few days, in all probability about the beginning of next week.

"The amount of work involved in the preparation of such voluminous data may not be fully appreciated by some, but it should be remembered that the force in all the bureaus here, which have to do intimately with financial matters, have been for weeks working overtime on the regular business of the department and to have this duty put upon them in addition materially increases their burdens."

The senate devoted over two hours to consideration of the bill revising the criminal laws of the United States.

Subject of Long and Interesting Debate in the House.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Unrestrained opportunity to express views on the immigration question was offered members of the house by the decision, soon after convening, to take up and consider a bill appropriating $250,000 for an immigration station in Philadelphia, and so many took advantage of it that the code of laws bill, which the managers of the house had planned to take up, was side-tracked for the day.

The discussion of the immigration station bill opened up the whole subject of immigration and excited the interest of the entire house. Members from both sides of the chamber clamored for recognition, which carried with it the right to speak for an hour, if so desired.

The discussion served to develop violent opposition, led by Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Byrd, to certain classes of immigrants coming to the United States, while others made earnest pleas for them upon the ground that the prosperity of the country had been advanced because of their presence in this country.

The debate was notable in that it was indulged in largely by members serving their first terms and who found in the bill a chance to make their maiden efforts at speechmaking on the floor of the house.

The entire session was devoted to a consideration of the bill, which was passed.

Bears are liable to taxation in several of the Japanese villages. The origin of this curious custom seems to be unknown.
